

Leaving a legacy to Traidcraft Exchange

Leaving a legacy to Traidcraft Exchange is the best way to ensure we can continue helping people to escape from poverty and for you to support generations to come.

Legacies are a vital part of Traidcraft's future. They enable us to make long-term commitments with greater confidence.

Legacies also allow us to develop strategies and future plans which might not otherwise be possible without the knowledge that definite financial aid is available in the future.

The difference your legacy could make

In Tanzania, our BEE project is helping beekeepers to form groups, improve the quality of their honey and access new markets. Increased honey sales will provide vital income for beekeepers like Henry Mugao:

"I have been able to buy livestock to help with the ploughingif I get more money for my honey I will improve the house and make sure that my daughter continues to study."
