

30th birthday reflections

Over the course of 30 weeks, a wide range of people connected with Traidcraft will offer their views on our work.

Showing items 1 - 10 of 32

< Previous Next >

TRAIDCRAFT

30th birthday reflections - from all our supporters

In our final reflection, Traidcraft's supporters share their views about Traidcraft and how much things have changed over the last 30 22 years.

September 2009

Ordinary people have been able to have an extraordinary impact

Traidcraft's Chief Executive Paul Chandler talks about the difference that individuals make in changing the world. 21 September 2009

In helping facilitate mainstreaming fair trade, Traidcraft has already achieved its raison d'etre

Peter Wigglesworth, who works at GHP Design who produce many of Traidcraft's publications, looks back on many years of fun and hard work.

14 September 2009

Working with Traidcraft has been a pleasure as they are interested in the general wellbeing of the society

Nellie Kok, chairman of Eksteenskui Agricultural Co-operative, talks about the positive impact of Fairtrade on the farmers and local 7 community.

September 2009

In helping facilitate mainstreaming fair trade, Traidcraft has already achieved its raison d'etre

Alex Smith, MD of Alara Wholefoods who make Traidcraft's muesli, reflects on the business ethics and how trading can change the world.

31 August 2009

Fair trade and Traidcraft have come such a long way

Traidcraft retailer Sarah Shepherd looks back on the history of fair trade products and how things have changed for herself, for fair trade and for Traidcraft.

24 August 2009

Traidcraft has always impressed us with their alternative and developmental approach to doing business

Paul and Lizzie from Saddle Skedaddle, which runs Traidcraft's Meet the People Tours, reflect on Traidcraft's relationship with its producers.

17 August 2009

Fair trade is not simply a consumer or work-related choice but a way of life for all involved

Shared Interest's Managing Director, Patricia Alexander talks about the close relationship with Traidcraft and how the work of our 10 August 2009 organisations is often intertwined.

We work together with a mutual respect for one another

Stephen Morris, who works in Traidcraft's quality team, considers the difference that working at Traidcraft has made and the opportunities to meet with our producers.

3 August 2009

I like the personal link we have through Traidcraft with the producers

Chris Eddowes, Fair Trader and Traidcraft speaker, considers many years and many ways of supporting Traidcraft, and also the rights of grannies around the world!

27 July 2009

Showing items 1 - 10 of 32

< Previous Next >