

Greenbelt 2008

Traidcraft will be at the 2008 Greenbelt Festival. Come along and join us for a range of activities which reflect our work.

Date: 23/08/2008
Until: 25/08/2008
Type of Event: Festival
Location: Cheltenham

Stirring stuff

Traidcraft will be in the G-source tent at Greenbelt, challenging people to create a stir. We have a range of activities to get people involved and help bring our vision - a world freed from the scandal of poverty - a little closer.

Leading figures in the church and politics will be lending their weight to our presence at Greenbelt this year.

We are holding a panel debate about ethics in trade and those discussing this issue will be:

- The Rt Hon Stephen Timms, Minister of State for Employment and Welfare Reform
- Joel Edwards, the General Director of the Evangelical Alliance
- Malcolm Duncan, leader of Faithworks.

In addition, we'll be running our pub-quiz night and wine tasting, both of which have proved so popular they've been included in the festival programme.

Our presence will be felt throughout the weekend, as we have supplied the wine for the festival bars and the Sunday communion service.

Also, the Greenbelt organisers have ordered staff T-shirts made of Fairtrade cotton from Agrocel which is great news for the organic cotton farmers and their families.

Attending this year?

Greenbelt have made their Daily Diary available in advance of this year's festival. You can download it from their website.

What have we done before?

For a taste of what we will be doing, take a look at the photo gallery and stories from Greenbelt 2007.

